
CAMPUS OF ST. AUGUSTINE'S SCHOOL, RALEIGH, N. C.

The Bishop Tuttle Memorial House

A NATIONAL CENTER FOR THE TRAINING of COLORED WOMEN CHURCH WORKERS

To be Built on the Campus of St. Augustine's School
Raleigh, North Carolina

The Purpose

THE Bishop Tuttle Memorial House presents a new open door of opportunity to the educated young colored woman who desires to help her own people, her country and her Church as a trained Christian leader. It is a pioneer work which provides a house as a Church center under the leadership of a well equipped Dean who will act as the director of religious education. Advantage will be taken of special courses offered at St. Augustine's as well as institutions in Raleigh. Endeavor will be made to plan a curriculum which should appeal to the graduates of normal schools and colleges who are already prepared to take a grade of work which will fit them to become effective trained Church workers.

The Need

At the present time there is no school under the Church where a colored woman may receive adequate training to do the kind of work so much needed in the Churches and Missions of the South.

Extracts from letters in answer to a questionnaire sent to the Bishops of Southern dioceses emphasize the need of such a school:

"We have failed in our negro work here largely for lack of properly trained workers. Parochial schools, social service, parish visiting, young people's work, all call for trained leadership."

"Besides parochial school work women should be prepared to give definite instruction in the Bible, Prayer Book and Catechism. Training should also be given for directing health conditions in our negro communities as well as various branches of domestic science."

FRONT ELEVATION

The House

The building is to be of first class brick construction with accommodations for the Dean, a Matron, a Teacher and twenty students when the third floor is finished. The plans indicate the arrangements in detail.

The Cost

The house will cost approximately $25,000.00 to build and $5,000.00 to furnish, making a total of about $30,000.00. The construction is based on an estimate of thirty cents per cubic foot, and at that rate the following table is presented as a suggestive plan for making contributions.

Individuals, organizations or parishes can help build this much needed House by taking a room either in part or whole and providing the cost of construction.

Running Expenses

The salary of the faculty will be paid from the United Thank Offering. Each student will be asked to pay a regular yearly tuition charge of $175.00. This amount will not cover the expenses of training, but is put at this figure as probably all that can be asked from the students. The balance needed will be divided per capita and designated as supplementary scholarships and it is hoped that parishes, dioceses, organizations or individuals will assume these scholarships. If necessary, they will be paid from the United Thank Offering.

Completion

The building is to be begun in April and the house should be finished, furnished and opened next October. It is one of the houses undertaken as the Woman's Auxiliary Special for 1922-1925 for which the women of the Church have been making their offerings. Part of the amount necessary is already in hand. The National Council is underwriting the rest so that the building can be begun at once. The whole amount should be completed by May 1st, the anniversary of the consecration of Bishop Tuttle and the day upon which the women are to present the fund at corporate communions throughout the Church.
